About Us

We started in fall 2014 as a group of educators concerned about forms of inequity in public school systems serving Native American youth. Public school systems in northwest New Mexico--whether GMCS or the BIE--have a long and troubled history of providing equitable and excellent education to Native youth and families.

Mission

The Six Directions Indigenous School, through a commitment to culturally relevant indigenous education and interdisciplinary project-based learning, will develop critically conscious students who are engaged in their communities, demonstrate holistic well-being, and have a personal plan for succeeding in post-secondary opportunities.

We're committed to our youth's education & future.
